

New Mexico Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) for Seniors

NM HSD partners with community organizations throughout the state to provide nutritious food to supplement the diet of Seniors who may be at risk for malnutrition. Currently, there are 5 regional centers and 122 tailgate sites located throughout the state who distribute a monthly box of food to eligible persons 60 years and older.

How Do I Qualify for CSFP?

- Adults 60 years of age and older
- Residency: must live within the service area at the time of application for services.
- Income Eligibility Requirement: up to 130% of the Federal poverty guidelines published annually by the Department of Health and Human Services

How Do I Apply for CSFP?

Applications are available at the warehouses and distribution sites. To Apply for CSFP benefits the applicant or caretaker of the applicant must provide the following information on the application:

- Proof of age and identity: driver license or picture ID
- Proof of residency: physical address included on mail such as a utility bill
- Income eligibility: Social Security Award letter, retirement income statement, annuity statement, employment pay stub or any document that includes gross income for everyone in the household.

Households seeking food assistance are frequently eligible for other assistance programs that may provide much needed resources. These programs include The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP), and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). Non-nutrition programs such as Medicaid, Medicare Savings Program (MSP) and Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) are also available for qualifying persons. Information is available through the Income Support Division county offices and on line at
